INDEX OF NUMBERS I. AND II. OF VOLUME II.

	NO.	PAGES
Angioma Cavernosum, case of——situated in the External Auditory Canal, and attached by a slender pedicle to the Manubrium Mallei. By Albert H. Buck	I.	72–78
Astigmatic Rays, Special application to the case of the Eye of Knapp's general formulæ for——. By G. Hays	I.	79–86
Accommodation, Observations on cases of paralyzed——. By Dr. Colsman	I.	154–165
Aub, Jos. Contributions to the Clinical History of Injuries of the Eyeball and its Surroundings	I.	187–198
Auditory Nerve, The diagnosis of complete Paralysis of the——. A contribution to the Pathology of the Medulla oblongata. By S. Moos	I.	199–303
Acoustic Nerve, Supplement concerning the Origin of the——in the Brain. By G. Brunner	II.	312
Bone, Formation of——in the Eye. By H. Knapp	I.	1–35
Buck, Albert H. Case of Angioma Cavernosum, situated in the Ext. Aud. Canal, and attached by a slender pedicle to the Manubrium Mallei	I.	72–78
Brunner, G. On alterations of Hearing in one's own Voice	I.	107–126
—— On Vertigo, occurring in affections of the Ear	I.	283–342
—— Supplement, concerning the Origin of the Acoustic nerve in the Brain	II.	312
Blake, Clarence J. Living Larvæ in the Human Ear	II.	37–44
Burnett, Chas. H. An investigation concerning the Mechanism of the Ossicles of Hearing, and the Membrane of tfie Round Window	II.	45–57
Colsman, Dr. Observations on Cases of Paralyzed Accommodation	I.	154–165
Circulation, Anomalous——in the Eye. By E. G. Loring	II.	1–10
Cysticercus intra-ocularis. By J. Hirschberg	II.	11–14
Carotid Artery, Ligation of the Common——after a gun-shot wound, on account of copious hemorrhage.—Tinnitus Aurium and Deafness—Diagnosis of the Position of the Ball from the Condition of the Ear—Acoustic and Physiological Remarks. By Oscar Wolf	II.	58–75

	NO.	PAGES
Delafield, Francis. Tumors of the Retina	I.	58–71
Deaf-Mute. Rare Anomalies, both Congenital and Acquired, occurring in the Ears of a——. By S. Moos	I.	138–153
Exostoses, Symmetrical formation of —— in Both External Auditory Canals of Man. By S. Moos	I.	136–138
Elsberg, L. On the Employment of the Nasal Douche	I.	177–183
Emphysema, Two cases of——of the Orbit and Adjacent Parts. By E. Gruening	I.	184–186
Erb, W. The Galvanic Treatment of the Eye and Ear	II.	228–303
Glioma Retinæ, a case of——Operated on at an Early Stage, and exhibiting some New and Peculiar Anatomical Conditions. By H. Knapp	I.	36–53
Glioma Retinæ in the First Stage. By J. Hirschberg	II.	18–20
———, On——. By J. Hirschberg	II.	21–25
———, Contributions to the Pathology of——. By J. Hirschberg and J. Katz	II.	29–36
Galvanic Treatment, The——of Diseases of the Eye and Ear. By W. Erb	II.	228–303
Gruening, E. Two cases of Emphysema of the Orbit, Eyelids, and Adjacent Parts	I.	184–186
Hay, G. Special Application to the Case of the Eye of Knapp's General Formulæ for Astigmatic Rays	I.	79–86
Hearing of one's own Voice, On Alterations in the ——. By G. Brunner	I.	107–126
Hirschberg, J. Clinical and Anatomical Observations: Cysticercus intra-ocularis; Sarcoma of the Lower Eyelid; Glioma Retinæ in the First Stage	II.	11–20
——— On Glioma Retinæ	II.	21–25
——— Engorged Papilla, in consequence of Solitary Tubercle in the Cerebellum	II.	26–28
——— Contributions to the Pathology of Glioma Retinæ	II.	29–36
Iridectomy without Division of the Sphincter Pupillæ. By B. A. Pope	I.	87–94
Injuries of the Eyeball and its Surroundings, Contributions to the Clinical History of——. By Jos. Aub	I.	187–198
Inner Ear, A Clinical Analysis of the Inflammatory Affections of the——. By H. Knapp	I.	204–283
Katz, J. Contributions to the Pathology of Glioma Retinæ	II.	29–36
Knapp, H. Formation of Bone in the Eye	I.	1–35
——— A case of Glioma Retinæ, Operated on at an Early Stage, and exhibiting some New and Peculiar Anatomical Conditions	I.	36–53
——— A case of Pterygium Superius	I.	54–57
——— A Clinical Analysis of the Inflammatory Affections of the Inner Ear	I.	204–283

	NO.	PAGES
Knapp, H. Notes on Ophthalmological and Otological Subjects, made during a journey through Europe	II.	153–218
Loring, E. G. The Light-Streak in the Centre of the Retinal Vessels, with the Ophthalmoscope	II.	95–106
—— Anomalous Circulation in the Eye	II.	1–10
Larvæ, Living——in the Human Ear. By C. J. Blake	II.	37–44
Moos, S. Hyperostosis of the Cranium and the Petrous Bones. Peculiar Malformation of the Apparatus of the Middle Ear. Anchylosis of Both Stirrups. Osseous Closure of the Left Fenestra Rotunda	I.	127–135
—— Symmetrical Formation of Exostosis in Both External Auditory Canals in Man	I.	136–138
—— Rare Anomalies, Both Congenital and Acquired, occurring in the Ears of a Deaf-Mute	I.	139–158
—— The Diagnosis of Complete Paralysis of the Auditory Nerve. Contribution to the Pathology of the Medulla Oblongata	I.	199–203
—— Four cases of Gun-shot Wounds of the Ear	I.	343–356
—— Case of Contraction of the Left Tensor Tympani Muscle	I.	287–358
Nasal Douche, On the Employment of the——. By L. Elsberg	I.	177–183
—— Sixteen Cases of Aural Disease, Caused by the Use of the——. By D. B. St. John Roosa	II.	76–90
Ossicles of Hearing, An Investigation concerning the Mechanism of the——and the Membrane of the Round Fenestra. By Ch. H. Burnett	II.	45–57
Ophthalmological and Otological Subjects, Notes on——made during a journey through Europe. By H. Knapp	II.	153–218
Pterygium Superius, A Case of——. By H. Knapp	I.	54–57
Pope, B. A. Iridectomia without Division of the Sphincter Pupillæ	I.	86–94
Petrous Bones, Hyperostosis of the Cranium and——.Peculiar Malformation of the Apparatus of the Middle Ear. Anchylosis of Both Stirrups. Osseous Closure of the Left Fenestra Rotunda	I.	127–135
Pooley, Thos. R. Two Cases of Sympathetic Ophthalmia distinguished by the occurrence of Neuro-Retinitis	I.	284–292
Pflueger, E. Contributions to Ophthalmo-Tonometry	II.	91–152
Pagenstecher, Alex. A Tearstone in the Canaliculus Lacrimalis Inferior	II.	219–223
Retina, Tumors of the ——. By Francis Delafield	I.	58–71
Retinal Vessels. The Light-Streak in the Centre of the——with the Ophthalmoscope. By E. G. Loring	II.	95–106
Roosa, D. S. St. John. Sixteen Cases of Aural Disease Caused by the Use of the Nasal Douche	II.	76–90
Steinheim, Dr. Kerato-Conus and its Treatment	I.	166–176

	NO.	PAGES
Sympathetic Ophthalmia, Two Cases of——distinguished by the occurrence of Neuro-Retinitis. By Thos. R. Pooley	I.	284–292
Sclerotic, Fibroma of the——. By Theo. Saemish	II.	304–311
Saemisch, Theo. Fibroma of the Sclerotic	II.	304–311
Tensor Tympani, Case of Contraction of the Left——Synchronous with the Act of Mastication. By S. Moos	I.	357–358
Tonometry, Contributions to Ophthalmo——. By E. Pflueger	II.	91–152
Tearstone, A——in the Canaliculus Lacrimalis Inferior. By Alex. Pagenstecher	II.	219–223
Tattooing of the Cornea. By L. Von Wecker	II.	224–227
Vertigo, On——occurring in Affections of the Ear. By G. Brunner,	I.	293–342
Wounds of the Ear, Four Cases of Gunshot——. By S. Moos	I.	343–356
Wecker, L. Von. Tattooing of the Cornea	II.	214–227
Wolf, Oscar. Ligation of the Common Carotid Artery, after a Gun-shot Wound, on account of Copious Hemorrhage. Tinnitus Aurium and Deafness. Diagnosis of the Position of the Ball from the Condition of the Ear. Acoustic and Physiological Remarks	II.	58–75